4. EndNote Online will automatically open (log in) Click on New References. The imported references will stay in the Unfiled folder until they are moved to a group.

The screenshot shows the EndNote Online interface. On the left, the 'My References' sidebar is visible, with a red box highlighting the 'Quick Search' section and another red box highlighting the '[Unfiled] (2)' folder. The main area displays the '[Unfiled]' folder contents. A table lists references with columns for Author, Year, and Title. The first reference is by Giagazoglou, P. (2013) titled 'Muscle reaction function of individuals with intellectual disabilities may be improved through therapeutic use of a horse'. The interface includes navigation tabs at the top: 'My References', 'Collect', 'Organize', 'Format', and 'Options'.

5. Select on the reference title and review the information to make sure it is correct. Click on a field to change/add information.

The screenshot shows the 'View Reference in "[Unfiled]"' page. At the top, there are navigation controls including 'Record 1 of 2', 'Return to List', and 'Related Records'. Below these are buttons for 'Copy to Quick List', 'Delete', and 'Add to group shared by others...'. The main section is titled 'Bibliographic Fields:' and lists various fields for the selected reference. The fields are: Reference Type (Journal Article), Author (Giagazoglou, P.; Arabatzi, F.; Kellis, E.; Liga, M.; Karra, C.; Amiridis, I.), Title (Muscle reaction function of individuals with intellectual disabilities may be improved through the use of a horse), Year (2013), Journal (Research in Developmental Disabilities), Volume (34), Issue (9), Pages (2442-2448), Start Page, and Epub Date. The Start Page and Epub Date fields are currently empty.
